Once a Thief... USA, Give-Away Land Paper Consumption Down

Each day I leave my house with the consumption of pills for 5 p.m. carefully loaded in a plastic cup on the kitchen table. But when I returned home the other night the plastic cup had been knocked over and the pills scattered across the table. I recovered all of them, and didn't have to look far for the culprit. I had left my Boxer dog in the house while I was up. The skunk had put his closhopper feet on the edge of the table and scanned it for whatever was worth eating.

Fortunately they were pills, and dogs are suspicious of pills—as you know if you've tried worming your dog. Roger the Boxer didn't used to be that way. I told of his fall from grace in a column a couple of years ago. I was preparing for an office dinner at the house, and set out on the kitchen table to thaw one frozen chocolate cake. Back to the living room to watch TV—and I dozed off.

What awakened me was a sudden suspicion. I dashed for the kitchen, but too late—all that was left was a scrap of foil on the kitchen floor. Once a thief... A checkup by the Congressional Joint Economic Committee published Jan. 11 reported that the current total of subsidies in our country is "at least 63 billion dollars." If you suspected it was something like this that is at the root of inflation now you know. How can government fight an inflation that is largely of its own making? It can't do the job without the help of honest and plain-speaking citizens. The tide will turn only when the people demand all subsidies be cut off—and pledge themselves to defeat office-holders who won't bend to the new order.

The Newsprint Division of the American Paper Institute reports that for the first 11 months of 1971 newsprint (the coarse white paper newspapers use) production fell off in both Canada and the U.S. Shipments were off, and so was consumption. North American production fell 2.7 per cent. Shipments dropped 3.4 per cent. And usage fell 1.5 per cent. Statistical evidence that high prices of raw material are causing newspapers to retrench. Circulation isn't likely to be cut, but fewer pages may be the end result. Which means a smaller "news hole" for the stories and features for which you subscribe. I haven't heard of any newspaper voluntarily reducing its advertising volume as yet.

Industrial Production Gain Reported Encouraging Sign

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration says a solid gain in industrial production last month is an encouraging sign that the economy is beginning to turn upward. The Federal Reserve Board reported Monday that its industrial-production index increased by 0.7 per cent in December after a 0.6-per-cent advance in November. The December figure was 107.8 per cent of the 1967 base year, but 3.7 per cent below the mid-1969 peak.

A spokesman for President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers said that since August, when the President made his bold economic moves, the

Congressional Action Sought to End Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Within hours after 13,000 longshoremen resumed a dock strike at 24 West Coast ports, the White House announced it would seek congressional action to send them back to work. "It appears that legislative action may be the only remedy to allow us to prevent another long and crippling strike," White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said in Washington Monday. Ziegler said the administration was "examining alternative courses of action that might be recommended to Congress."

Charges Filed in Heroine Smuggling

NEW YORK (AP) — Twenty-three men, most of them French citizens, have been charged with smuggling 1,500 pounds of heroin into the United States.

French-American cooperation has led to the arrest of 16 of them. Five are in custody in the United States, 10 in France and one in Canada.

The indictment announced Monday told of get-togethers in a Paris cafe, delivery of suitcases in New York's Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, cash in six figures changing hands and a clandestine traffic in automobile keys.

Federal authorities estimated the wholesale value of the smuggled heroin at $8 million and gave it a street value of between $300 million and $300 million.

U.S. Atty. Whitney North Seymour Jr. said the indictment was filed Jan. 4, but not unsealed until Monday to allow French authorities time to round up some of the suspects.

Pakistan Death Threat

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — Pakistani businessmen who do not declare their foreign assets could face the death penalty, Finance Minister Mubashir Hassan warned today.

He told newsmen that response had been poor to a government order to businessmen to give an account of their foreign assets by last Saturday.

"We are extremely dissatisfied," said Mubashir. "No decision has been made yet, but we are considering the death penalty for businessmen who do not complete these returns."

He reported declarations totaling 120 million rupees, or nearly $25 million at the official officials did not disclose any details, and political observers said it could take weeks of congressional hearings before any bill was passed.

Picket signs appeared Monday morning at ports from Seattle to San Diego after Harry Bridges, president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, told members that last-minute bargaining talks had failed to produce a settlement before an 8 a.m. strike deadline.

More than half the shipping which normally reaches West Coast ports has been diverted to Ensenada, Mexico; Vancouver, B.C.; and to East and Gulf ports, shipping sources said. The longshoremen's work stoppage was a resumption of one ended Oct. 6 when President Nixon obtained an injunction under the Taft-Hartley law. West Coast ports had been closed 100 days.

After the 80-day Taft-Hartley back-to-work order expired Christmas Day, the ILWU consented to the employer Pacific Maritime Association's requests for two extensions. The last one ended Monday.

Before talks broke off Monday, ILWU negotiators had met through the night with the PMA and federal mediator J. Curtis Counts.

Bridges said in a telephone interview that the union "broke off on the issue of retroactivity."

"Counts put to both sides the proposition that we stop the clock and continue talks with any final agreement terms retroactive to Nov. 14," Bridges added. "We agreed. The PMA included in the indictment are 20 French citizens, an Austrian arrested in France and two Bronx residents identified as Louis Cirillo and John Anthony Astuto.

Cirillo, 48, was arrested in Miami in October and is being held here. Astuto, 27, also known as Salvatore Rizzo, is still at large.

The indictment accused the defendants of conspiring to conceal large amounts of heroin in automobiles—usually expensive—and shipping them to the United States.

A key break in the case came last September when customs agents uncovered a $40 million cache of heroin in a sports car brought aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth 2, and they made several arrests.

Early in October French authorities made additional arrests in Paris and seized 235 pounds of heroin, described at the time as France's biggest drug haul.

rate. But he said this included bonuses, for returning foreign exchange, bringing the total down to about $15 million.

According to the Finance Ministry nearly $60 million worth of foreign assets was declared in 1969. President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto has charged that at least $400 million has been secreted abroad by Pakistanis.

"Traitors will not be allowed to go unpunished, and subversion of the Pakistan economy shall not be permitted," said the Finance Minister. "Soon we are going to start arrests and thorough investigation, and interrogation of these people who did not declare holdings will be started."

In a companion report, the Federal Reserve Board reported that the nation's factories operated at 74 per cent of capacity in the last three months of 1971, up slightly from 73.9 per cent in the third quarter of last year.

The failure of factories to operate at closer to capacity is largely traceable to the sluggish increase in industrial production.

Judgment in Prescott Case

LITTLE ROCK — In its proceedings Monday the Arkansas Supreme Court affirmed a judgment for $7,000 against Eugene B. Hale and son in favor of William H. Hays and wife. The case was before the high court on appeal from the Nevada Circuit Court. Mr. and Mrs. Hays had sued the Hales for alleged breach of contract in connection with the sale of certain lots in Prescott.

Hung Jury in Murder Trial

In Hempstead Circuit Court Monday a mistrial was declared in the case of O. D. Green who was charged with murder in connection with the October 31, 1971 shooting death of Herbert Byers at Ocean.

The jury was unable to agree so Judge John Goodson declared a mistrial.

Robert West entered a plea of guilty to burglary and grand larceny and was sentenced to 10 years with five years suspended and a stipulation that the defendant must not be paroled until at least one third of the sentence was served. He admitted entering the home of Thomas G. Lockhard and taking guns and other items.

Three defendants, Troy Bishop, Larry Lollis, and Harold Ross, all charged with burglary and grand larceny, pleaded guilty and was each given a five year sentence with the sentence probated. They admitted to entering the Yerger Junior High Band building and taking instruments on October 26, 1971.

In an appeal case from Municipal Court the penalty was almost wholly upheld. In City Court C. B. Shackelford was convicted on charge of driving while intoxicated and fined $450, 30 days in jail and his driver's license revoked for one year. Yesterday all of the lower court's decision was upheld except the 30 days in jail which was suspended.

A suspended sentence of 10 years against Terry York for burglary and grand larceny was revoked. Five years of the sentence was suspended. York was charged with breaking into a house and taking items.

The court adjourned until the April term.

U.S. No Longer a

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional mission to Europe delivered the message that the United States is no longer the easy-going trading partner of postwar years—and the Europeans listened—a leader of the legislative party says.

"I think we got the idea across to people in decision-making posts of the European community that we simply can't afford to be palsies any longer," Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin said in an interview.

Byrnes is senior Republican member of the House Ways and Means Committee, which broke a long no-travel tradition to send a majority of its members to Paris and Brussels where they discussed trade issues with spokesmen for the Common Market and other European groups.

Byrnes said he came back with the conviction that the United States is now dealing with "a peer, and maybe a little more than a peer" in the expanding Common Market, and that international trade rules written when this country dominated export markets now have to be revised to provide competitive equity.

Particularly troublesome, Byrnes said, are reciprocal trade preferences worked out bilaterally between members of the Common Market and outside countries, in many cases former colonies or dependencies.

The problem will be aggravated, he said, by the entry into the European community of Britain, trailing its own network of special trading arrangements.

"We were repeatedly told that these preferences are perfectly permissible under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade," Byrnes said.

"We didn't always get exactly the same impression in talking with GATT people."

But he said "we have been relaxed in the past, not inclined to push for compensation under GATT."

SAIGON (AP) — A pair of North Vietnam's fastest MIG jets fired three missiles at two American fighter-bombers along the Laotian border within 100 miles of Hanoi Monday but missed, the U.S. Command reported today.

The encounter was the second in three days between U.S. and North Vietnamese jets. On Saturday, the Americans fired the missiles and the MIG21 escaped.

The two American F4 Phantoms took evasive action in the engagement Monday and never got in position to fire back, U.S. spokesmen said. After launching their missiles, the MIGs turned back across the border.

U.S. warplanes were out again in force over wide areas of Indochina today, flying more than 250 strikes against North Vietnamese supply routes, depots and troop locations.

Many of the attacks were along the central coast in Binh Dinh Province, where two American helicopters were shot down Monday supporting the

Challenges Legality of State School Financing

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Bobby K. Hayes of Calico Rock filed suit in U.S. District Court here Monday challenging the constitutionality of financing public education in Arkansas through ad valorem taxes on property.

Hayes, who was an unsuccessful Democratic for the U.S. Senate in 1968, said the taxing system violates the equal protection provisions of the U.S. Constitution. He said it produces inequalities among school districts in the amount spent for a pupil's education.

Hayes asked for an injunction prohibiting the collection of property tax in his county—Isard—until the tax is proved to be equitable throughout the state.

In August the California Supreme Court ruled that the ad valorem tax was unconstitutional because it favored affluent school districts and discriminated against poorer districts.

In the suit, Hayes compared millages and revenues of Calico Rock and Mountain Home.

Mountain Home has a millage rate of 46 and this produced $327,973, an average of $157.45 per child enrolled, he said, while Calico Rock's higher millage rate of 52 produced only $68,758, an average of only $142.65 per child.

Hayes also charged in his suit that the state Education Department does nothing to equalize the amount of money spent in the districts.

Frank W. Kennedy, supervisor of research and statistics in the Education Department, said Monday the amount the department gives to each school district does not take into account the millage in each district assesses itself.

But, according to Kennedy's

Victory of Sorts on Welfare Stand

DES ARC, Ark. (AP)—Pros. Atty. Sam Weems says he has had a "victory of sorts" in his continuing battle with the state Welfare Department over clearing fraudulent welfare claimants from the state's rolls.

Weems was reacting to a statement issued by Dalton Jennings, director of the state Social Services Division, saying that all welfare cases involving potential fraud were to be turned over to prosecuting attorneys.

Weems began a campaign about a year ago to get access to files of the Welfare Department in connection with the Aide to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program and which he has followed with attempts to investigate alleged fraud in the food stamp program.

"Since fraud embodies intent, many times we cannot tell whether fraud actually exists," Jennings' statement said, "and for that reason, we expect each county director to make available to the prosecuting attorney all the information and records regarding potential fraud cases."

He said if the prosecutor feels fraud is indicated the local welfare department worker or social worker will be required to testify.

Weems says he intends to review all the cases in his district.

"I hope in the not too distant future to be able to assure that everybody on those rolls is entitled to be there," Weems said. "I welcome this as an opportunity to see whether what we think is going on in welfare rolls is going on."

sian flagship to a standstill.

The 362-foot Lamut, and the 278-foot trawler Kolyvan were seized without incident late Monday on charges of conducting illegal fishery support activity within the U.S. 12-mile contiguous zone.

Coast Guard spokesmen said the Storis, on routine patrol, discovered the two ships 9 1/2 miles off St. Matthew Island about 2 1/4 miles inside U.S. waters.

The two vessels were boarded by the Coast Guard while they were moored together for unloading.

The Storis then ordered both Soviet vessels to head for Adak Island, a naval station 600 miles south in the Aleutians.

The Coast Guard said the journey barely had begun when both Soviet vessels stopped, saying they would go no further. Movement resumed after further negotiations. But the Lamut, carrying a fleet commander Vladimir Artemov, suddenly broke away.

For the next four hours, the Storis chased the Lamut, receiving permission during the period to fire if necessary.

"At the end, the Storis kept crossing his bow, forcing him to change course and slowing him down," Schneider said. "They were in ice, and the Storis has an advantage because it's an icebreaker."

"Finally," he said, "the Storis ordered him to stop or he would be forced to take action; when he warned he was ready to fire, it was about as close as you can get."

A White House spokesman declined to discuss the authorization to fire the warning shot. He also said that the "hot line," the emergency communications system between Washington and Moscow, was not used in connection with the incident.

A State Department spokesman in Washington said no diplomatic representation to the Soviets was planned on the basis of evidence now available.

Department officials said that, when such fishing boat incursions occur from time to time, the normal procedure is to take the offender to court. They recalled that not long ago a Japanese ship was taken in and a fine imposed.

Schneider said the Kolyvan made no effort to escape while the Storis was occupied. He said it was not known why the trawler remained hove to. Earlier, a Coast Guard spokesman in Washington had said it was not clear if the Kolyvan had attempted to escape or had followed an erratic course to avoid ice.

Murder Charge Is Filed

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Batesville Police charged John R. Taylor, 27, of Batesville with second-degree murder Monday in connection with the death of his sister Sunday.

Police said Joyce Taylor, 31, was fatally shot in the head with a .25-caliber pistol at the home of another sister, Zola Taylor.

Police said the woman was apparently shot during a family argument.

Chrysler Ups Car Prices by $35

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. has announced price increases ranging up to $35 on its 1972 model passenger cars, effective on vehicles shipped from assembly plants Monday.

The increase amounts to an average of $20, or one-half of one per cent, across the company's product line, but prices on its intermediate-sized models in the Plymouth and Dodge lines were held at their earlier levels.

In the announcement Monday, Chrysler said the boost reflects "a further recovery of cost increases previously approved by the Price Commission." The costs included an improved seat belt system required in all passenger cars built after Jan. 1.

The company was authorized by the price panel to increase its new car prices by 4.5 per cent late last year, but at that time raised its prices 3 per cent.

The retail price of the improved belt systems has been estimated by industry executives at $25 to $30.

Print Contract Need Must Be Compelling

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Ray Thornton said today that a clear showing of "compelling need" must be established before state printing work that has been delayed by litigation could be performed under the general printing contract.

He also said that unless the need for printing is an emergency requiring immediate action, "the desire of an agency to have work accomplished on a certain date would not justify an award in advance of judicial determination."

A circuit court suit disputing two printing contracts awarded by Secretary of State Kelly Bryant has held up printing of the summer catalog for the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville and hunting regulations of the state Game and Fish Commission.

State Auditor Jimmie "Red" Jones asked Thornton if the work could be done under the general contract since the catalog must be printed by Feb. 15 and the hunting regulations by March 1.

Thornton said that while the litigation is pending before Circuit Court Judge Warren E. Wood, "a clear and convincing showing of compelling need" must be established before it would be proper to award the work to the holder of the general contract.

He said that if the work were enacted in 1965 made possible the Planning and Development Districts. Over the state there are eight such districts. Mr. Whitelaw is from Magnolia and Columbia and Hempstead counties are two in the twelve county group that comprises the Southwest Arkansas District.

The Southwest District has been organized for four years and the speaker said that at this time Arkansas is probably better organized to take advantage of economic opportunities than any other state in the nation.

Two major fields discussed by Mr. Whitelaw were Industrial Development and Health Care Planning.

Hope residents present were pleased to hear again that Hope was considered a hub or key city for industrial expansion by the State Department of Commerce.

The speaker said that the Red River Vocational and Technical School was an asset and commented on the surplus of highly educated engineers but that for each engineer seven trained technicians are needed.

One of the aims of Mr. Whitelaw's agency is to find what manufacturers need and if the items needed are produced or can be produced in the state.

He gave as an example, aluminum castings for an El Dorado manufacturer purchased from California while they were available from a shop in Camden.

Committees have been set up to plan for the Hope Lion's Silver Anniversary program on March 18, 1972.

Customers Don't Always Check That Price List

By BROOKS JACKSON Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — Customers don't always check the price lists that large retailers must have posted today, but it could pay shoppers $100 or more to do so.

To collect, the customer must find a large retailer who cheated him by raising a price, any price, before posting the required list. Then he can collect at least a refund of the amount he was overcharged, and possibly up to $1,000 if the cheating can't be proved accidental.

That's the law, a Price Commission attorney confirmed Monday.

Today more than 1,000 Internal Revenue Service agents were to begin strict enforcement of the Price Commission's rule requiring all retailers with more than $200,000 a year in revenues to post lists of prices they were allowed to charge during the Aug. 15-Nov. 14 freeze.

The lists have to be up today, whether or not any prices have been raised since then. Violators are subject to fines up to $5,000.

An Associated Press spot check of stores in major cities Monday showed widespread compliance, and a good deal of customer apathy about the lists.

"They're not being consulted much by the customers, but they're there," said a spokesman for Neiman-Marcus, the Dallas-based department store.

Organized labor has been unenthusiastic about the lists too, claiming they are meaningless because price rules are so complex a customer can't tell whether a particular price increase is legal.

But there is one kind of price violation that is relatively easy to catch. Price Commission rules published last November said that no retailer could raise a price until the required price lists were up. That means that any customer who was charged a price higher than shown in the price lists, but before the lists were up, has been overcharged by the amount of the increase.

Under the new law extending President Nixon's authority over the economy, customers may sue in federal court for $100 or triple the amount of the overcharge, whichever is more. A judge may decide to award up to $1,000, no matter how small the overcharge.

If a merchant can prove that the overcharge was not intentional, however, he is liable only for the amount of the excess charge, and he doesn't even have to pay that unless the customer asked for a refund at least 90 days earlier.

Wants Power of the PSC Strengthened

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Legislative Council has been asked to look at ways of strengthening the regulatory powers of the state Public Service Commission.

State Rep. Jesse C. Hayes of Pocahontas asked for the study following a recent decision in Pulaski County Circuit Court which pre-empted a ruling by the PSC.

The PSC had said that Four States Telephone Co. could not increase its rates until it improved its service.

Hayes said that because of the court decision the telephone company would be hiking its rates as much as 100 per cent to customers in his district with no guarantee of any improvement in the service.

House Speaker Ray S. Smith Jr. of Hot Springs has asked the council to approve a resolution calling on the Pollution Control and Ecology Department to report the number of cities that must improve their water treatment facilities to comply with pollution control standards.

Smith said the report was needed to determine if appropriations were needed to help communities to meet those standards.

Lane Sues Two L.R. Lawyers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Harlan Lane filed a $2 million damage suit in U.S. District Court here Monday charging that two Little Rock lawyers violated a lawyer-client relationship.

Lane, who was the former chief executive of Union National Bank here, filed the suit against Frank E. Chowning and W. P. Hamilton. They are members of the Little Rock law firm of Chowning, Mitchell, Hamilton and Chowning, but the firm is not named in the suit.

Lane charges in the suit that while he was head of the bank and head of La-Co. Inc., Chowning and Hamilton, acting in concert with certain other officers

Bumpers Says Promise Kept

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers told the Russellville Chamber of Commerce Monday night that he had kept a campaign promise to cut down on the number of escapes from the Arkansas prisons.

Bumpers said that during the last nine months only eight inmates had escaped from Cummins Prison Farm. He said that 392 had escaped during the previous 28 months.

Recalling another familiar theme during his campaign, Bumpers said that more money should be spent on keeping the young out of the prisons.

In the long run, Bumpers said it would save the state money.

He said he would rather spend $4,000 on a young person to keep him out of prison than to spend the money needed to maintain him and his family if he were to become an inmate of the state's prisons.

of the bank, caused many millions of dollars in deposits to be removed from the bank.

Missionary to Speaks Here

Mrs. J.H. Spooner, missionary to the Congo, will be the featured speaker Wednesday, January 19, at the First Presbyterian Church. This will be the first of three Witness Season programs to be sponsored by the Church. The program will begin at 6:30 with a family night potluck supper, followed by a presentation of the work of Christian missionaries in the Congo.

4th Incident in Two Weeks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The incident with two Soviet fishing vessels today in the Bering Sea is the fourth in two weeks to mar U.S.-Soviet relations.

On Jan. 5, Capt. Elmer L. Alderfer, an assistant Air Force attaché at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow, was physically assaulted by more than a dozen medical at an airport in the Soviet Union.

The Soviet Union cleared by data before this, the State Department of last week, U.S. and Soviet officials were involved in an incident over Soviet exchange student Merab Kurashvili, who apparently attempted suicide in New York while being escorted by Soviet officials to an airplane bound for Moscow. Kurashvili was allowed to fly home after U.S. officials said they were satisfied he was not being forced to do so.

Last Friday, the Soviets expelled U.S. Rep. James H. Scheuer, D-N.Y., who was arrested and held briefly by Soviet police after he called at the Moscow apartment of a prominent Soviet Jew.

Engagement Announced

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "One nice thing about it is that people in this town who wouldn't return my calls a year ago are now calling me."

Peter Bogdanovich was musing over his position as the latest bright young man in Hollywood. Nowhere in the world is status so acutely determined by who can get whom on the telephone. And Bogdanovich is receiving calls from the top stars and producers in films.

What makes Peter's phone ring is "The Last Picture Show."

It is a sweet-and look at a boy's coming to maturity in a windswept Texas hamlet. Nothing pretentious. No fancy camera work. Just a simple human story. But it has placed high in most critics' top-ten lists of 1971 films and is a front-runner in the Oscar race.

"The picture cost a little over a million," says director Bogdanovich. "So far it has opened in only seven cities, but it is doing phenomenally—in New York the 13th week was the biggest gross."

Bogdanovich, 31, was in his office at Warner Brothers, where he was putting final touches on his third film, "What's Up, Doc?" starring Barbra Streisand and Ryan O'Neal. He is tallish, with dark hair—full but not hippie-length—and serious brown eyes behind tinted goggles.

The burst of fame is not likely to overwhelm him, as it has other young film makers.

Bogdanovich is well-schooled in what happens to a successful

Helen and Sue Bottel The Generation Gap

Should She Return Love Ring? Dear Helen And Sue:

Last summer my college boy friend gave me a "love ring," which spells the word and gracefully surrounds a diamond chip in a heart. I think they're called "first promise" rings, and they don't mean engagements.

Now we've broken up, but we're still friends. No resentments or hate—just a mutual parting of the ways.

My question is may I still wear the ring on my right hand? It's my favorite piece of jewelry and my ex doesn't mind—he doesn't want it back. It means a lot to me—representing happy times and a first love that maybe didn't director. He wrote the book. Four books, in fact, about veterans directors John Ford, Howard Hawks, Fritz Lang and Allan Dwan, with another upcoming on Orson Welles.

It's no accident that "The Last Picture Show" displays a film-making style that barks back to Hollywood's golden era. "I do have an orientation to the classic kind of storytelling on film," he admits.

"It's much easier to make a movie about alienation, and that's why untalented film makers are drawn to that theme. But the public is moving away from alienation, and those pictures are not succeeding."

What's next for Bogdanovich? He is already planning a western, a love story and a tale of an early-day Hollywood director.

last but I'll never forget. I'm definitely not using the ring as a last vestige to "hold on." We're over each other, except that we may always be good buddies.—STILL LOVING Dear S.L.:

If your ex doesn't mind, why not wear your favorite piece of jewelry—as long as it remains your favorite?—HELEN Dear Still:

But watch out it doesn't put off other guys—who might not know that the love ring no longer means you're in love.—SUE Dear Rap:

Remember me? I'm Joey whose sister was blackmailing me with pictures she'd sneaked around and taken.

Thank you for helping me solve my problem. I promised to let you know how it turned out, so here goes.

Like you told me, I handed the "blackmail" money over to her at the supper table without saying a word after Sis refused to tear up the pictures because she didn't think I'd tell on her? Sure enough, Dad asked "What's this all about?" So it came out, and boy, was he mad! You were right, blackmailing is more serious than smoking (as one of the pictures showed me doing).

He made her get the pictures and he tore them up, and right in front of me he grabbed her and spanked her across his knee. I couldn't help but laugh. You would have too if you'd seen the expression on her face. Then Dad took her camera away for a month, and grounded her.

As for me, I didn't get punished for smoking, but was warned that if I got caught again, I'd really get it good.

Well, now I've got another problem. My sister won't speak to me. I feel bad that I laughed when she got smacked, because she really isn't so bad for a girl. She says she won't talk to me the rest of her life and if I ever do anything wrong, she'll squeal to get even.

How can I make up with her? From feeling blackmailed, I've switched to feeling guilty.—JOEY Dear Joey:

How about getting your sister's "sentence" shortened? And make sure she knows you put in the plea with your Dad. I'm sure that by this time, he realizes he was a little too tough on her.—HELEN

Dear Pal Joey:

Take it from a girl whose sister would have liked to plant her permanently quite a few times: the storm blows over—faster than you think.

...And then the next one comes along!—SUE Dear Sue:

Tell me, are you outspoken?—WONDERING Dear Won:

Only by my mother—sometimes.—SUE Last Word From Helen:

Not often—damn it! (GOT A PROBLEM? Or a subject for discussion, two-generation style? Direct your questions to either Sue or Helen Bottel—or both, in care of this newspaper, if you want a combination mother-daughter answer.)

BOOSTS THE GUARDS BALTIMORE (AP) — Warden Hiram Schoonfield feels guards at the city jail should be allowed to retire at age 50, just as city police and firemen.

The guards can now retire only at the age of 60, but Schoonfield told the City Jail Board "the men are so harassed and intimidated they find it difficult to stay on that long."

Mrs. Matt McCauley has gone to Shreveport to be with her sister, Mrs. Charles Gleason, following the death of the Rev. Gleason Monday.

Television and Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Hope took over the NBC channels Monday night with the annual report on his Christmas tour entertaining American soldiers overseas. It looked like a carbon copy of Hope Christmas shows a year ago and the year before that. It will be, as usual, one of the most popular television programs of the year. It is certainly one of the most unusual: The stars are the audience.

Over the score of years Hope and his troupe have flown around the world to bring cheer to American men, the comedian has learned what soldiers enjoy. He serves it: plenty of pretty girls; lots of music and jokes, preferably about military life, the brass, the food and local customs and weather.

More a report of a trip than a formal TV entertainment, much of the time the screens were filled with shots of the audience, what many tuned in to see. The cameras panned around acres of men, frequently moving in for close-ups of one or more of them enjoying the show and forgetting war for a few minutes.

Hope twirled his golf club, appeared in strange costumes and made a lot of funny cracks. Jim Nabors and Charlie Pride sang. Jill St. John walked around the stage to wolf whistles. It was all very light-hearted and very familiar.

As usual, it was a rewarding, heart-tugging 90 minutes. "S Wonderful," "S Wonderful," "S Wonderful," with which NBC kicked off the evening, was a delightful tribute to the music of George Gershwin and to the lyrics of his brother, Ira. Since the minutes were filled by Gershwin—played, sung and danced to—the program would have been almost as effective if listened to and not watched. Film star Jack Lemmon was host, actor in some sketchy lead-ins to songs, solo pianist and Greek chorus—the busiest performer in the program. Fred Astaire ran through a number of show tunes including some from Broadway shows in which he had appeared. Ethel Merman sang the Gershwin tune that launched her show business career, "I Got Rhythm."

Kentucky Is Upset by Georgia Five

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
"Georgia came to play and win... we just came to play." That, according to Kentucky basketball coach Adolph Rupp, was the main difference in Georgia's 85-73 upset of his Wildcats Monday night.

But it wasn't the only difference. "They apparently know more about defense than we do," said college basketball's winningest coach.

Georgia also made fewer mistakes. "We threw the ball away two times in the last 40 seconds," said the venerable Rupp. "We dug a well for ourselves at 18-2 but managed to come back only to blow it at the end."

South Carolina, the country's fifth-ranked team, nipped St. Bonaventure 61-50 and No. 19 Tennessee smacked Florida 61-50 in games Monday night involving top 20 clubs.

Georgia, behind the accurate shooting of center Tim Bassett and forward John Fraley, took a 13-0 lead at the start and ran it to 18-2 well into the first half. The Wildcats made two rallies, one halfway through the first stanza, and the other late in the second half, but couldn't pass the Bulldogs.

Bassett and Ronnie Hogue scored 27 points apiece to lead Georgia. Tom Parker had 22 for Kentucky.

South Carolina, down by 17-1 at the beginning, had to wipe out a nine-point deficit in the last 10 minutes to beat St. Bonaventure. Brian Winters, a sophomore reserve, got two crucial field goals and two free throws in the Gamecocks' winning drive.

Mike Edwards broke Florida's game-long lead with a free throw and scored 18 points overall as Tennessee celebrated its return to ranking status with a victory.

Florida led from the start until a technical foul was called on its bench midway through the second half. Edwards hit from the foul line to tie it at 46 and teammate John Snow then put in a 10-foot jump shot to put the Vols ahead 48-46. They never relinquished the lead.

Ernie Fleming and Harold Fox scored 29 points each and Leon Benbow tossed in 28 as Jacksonville smashed Alabama 120-65. The Dolphins' fast break cut out a 66-30 halftime lead.

Substitute forward Terry Davis scored 20 points in a total of 18 playing minutes to help Western Kentucky defeat East Tennessee 96-72.

One More for Devaney

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Tom Osborne, a 33-year-old Nebraskan with a Ph.D. degree and credentials as an athlete and coach, has been tapped by Coach Bob Devaney to inherit his football dynasty at the University of Nebraska one year from now.

The 56-year-old Devaney, whose decade at Nebraska has brought seven Big Eight titles and back-to-back national championships, announced Monday that the coming season will be his last as Cornhusker head coach, although he said he hopes to remain then as athletic director. He currently holds both positions.

Devaney said he would like Osborne, a Husker assistant coach for 10 years, to be his successor, although the final decision will be up to the Board of Regents.

"I can't come out and name a head coach but I will certainly recommend my appointment," Devaney said.

"I'm very pleased that Bob has this confidence in me, said Osborne, who spent three years as a flanker in the National Football League before leaving the pro ranks to seek advanced degrees in educational psychology and serve as a Devaney aide.

Devaney disclosed only last week he was thinking of quitting as head coach after a perfect 13-game season capped by Bud Stallworth sank two second-overtime field goals that gave Kansas a bitterly-fought 66-63 triumph over Kansas State.

Richie Fuqua fired in 42 points to lead Oral Roberts to 118-107 victory over Butler; Temple, led by Ollie Johnson's 20 points, fired 70 per cent from the floor to beat Delaware 82-68; Jerry Bonney had 24 points to lead Houston over Southern Mississippi 115-84 and Louisiana State dropped Tulane 76-58 in a game marred by 54 turnovers.

A 38-6 victory over unbeaten Alabama in Miami's Orange Bowl New Year's night.

The decision to stay on the job another year was "a difficult decision," he said, influenced by "some commitments to players who have been recruited."

"And there's always the challenge of trying to win another national championship," he said. "It's improbable, but not impossible. I'd like to be part of this."

But, he added, "Next fall will be it—win, lose or draw."

Osborne was a star athlete at Hastings (Neb.) College and a 19th round draft choice of the San Francisco 49ers. After one season he was picked up by Washington on waivers and played two years for the Redskins before returning to Nebraska for graduate work.

Ali Seeks Rematch With Joe

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) — Former world heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali had just fought an exhibition match and said he had four fights upcoming with a $500,000 guarantee for each, but his greatest concern was getting a rematch with current titleholder Joe Frazier.

"Frazier has held my job long enough," said Ali Monday night after clowning his way through six exhibition rounds, three each with Alonzo Johnson of Rankin, Pa. and Spider Owens of Philadelphia.

"I have got to whip Joe Frazier," added the flamboyant and controversial Ali. "I go to bed thinking of him and wake up thinking of him. I'm gonna whip him and then I'll be able to rest for a while."

Frazier handed Ali the only setback of his 35-bout professional career, pounding out a unanimous 15-round decision on March 8, 1971. A rematch, however, is not in the offing this year, according to Ali.

"I don't know when," said Ali, "but the world wants this fight more than I do. Things will fall in place."

Meanwhile, in New Orleans, Yank Durham, Frazier's manager, said Ali is talking a lot about wanting to fight Frazier again but not doing anything about it.

"He's going around fighting everybody else and nobody from Ali's camp has contacted me about a fight," said Durham. "Ali is no manager and he can't make any deals. If his manager will contact Yank Durham it can be quickly arranged so that Ali can be demolished by Joe Frazier in a hurry, then he can quit worrying about Frazier and get some rest."

Before taking on Frazier again, Ali said he will fight in Tokyo, London, Jamaica and Russia for a half-million dollars a bout. He said he did not know his opponents.

He also said he will have another exhibition match in Roanoke, Va. on Jan. 28.

Against Johnson and Owens, before a crowd estimated at 1,500 in the Westchester County Center, Ali went through most of his repertoire, including his famous Ali Shuffle. After the exhibition, the crowd sang "Happy Birthday" to the former champion in honor of his 30th birthday.

Denies Deal With Landry

MONTREAL (AP) — General Manager Red O'Quinn of the Montreal Alouettes denied Monday that his Canadian Football League club had made a four-year, $500,000 contract offer to Greg Landry, quarterback of the National Football League's Detroit Lions.

"We have him on our list," O'Quinn said.

"We haven't denied that. All that has happened is that people in the business who know the situation let us know that Landry had not signed a contract and was playing out his option."

O'Quinn said the Als had not talked to, nor made a contract offer, to the Lions' star.

Landry, a Lion quarterback since he graduated from the University of Massachusetts four years ago, denied the story in Detroit Monday.

Notes From Pro Golf Tourney

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Notes from the pro golf tournament trail:

Lee Trevino switches back and forth with three different putters—all the same style and from the same manufacturer—depending on the speed of the greens.

"They're pretty much the same club," Trevino explained. "The only difference is in the angle of the club face."

"You see, on fast greens, I have the club about two inches in front of my toe. On real slow greens I have it about 12 inches out."

"I go from the toe depending on the speed. That's why I have three different putters."

"The further out I have it, on those slow greens, the more overspin I put on the ball."

Trevino's wife Claudia underwent minor surgery in El Paso, Tex., last week.

"I've got to be the craziest man in the world," Trevino said. "She doesn't mind. She knows where the money comes from."

Tournament officials of the Greater Greensboro Open announced recently that they have increased their purse to $200,000 this year. That makes it 10 weeks this season in which a minimum of $200,000 will be up for grabs.

"How are you playing, Harry?" "An acquaintance asked as Harry Toscano strolled through a club dining room.

"I'm hitting the woods just great," Toscano shot back, "but I'm having a terrible time getting out of them."

Jerry McGee has returned to the tour after missing six months because of a hand ailment. He had to have an operation on his left hand after competing in the Canadian Open in July.

"I didn't pick up a club until about a month ago," McGee said. "The hand feels pretty good now, but I'm still conscious of it."

McGee had the best season of his career last year despite the abbreviated schedule. He finished second in the Byron Nelson and third in the National Airlines and won over $54,000.

LIGHTING UP in traditional Japanese style, the city of Sapporo is getting ready for the international spotlight as host city for the 1972 Winter Olympic Games. Each of the lanterns suspended over a street called Tanuki Koji (Raccoon Dog Alley) is decorated with the snowflake symbol for this year's games.

West Favored in All-Star Game

By DAN BERGER
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Basketball all-star games are usually high-scoring affairs because the players are most often chosen on the basis of their ability to put the ball in the basket. It's no different this time around.

Tonight's 22nd annual National Basketball Association All-Star game features 28 of the league's top players and its 16 top scorers. The West is a heavy favorite by virtue of having nine of the top 12 scorers in the NBA on its side.

Despite all that Western fire power, the East has its pluses.

In the backcourt, the West sends Los Angeles guards Gail Goodrich and Jerry West out, but the East has Walt Frazier of New York and Atlanta's Lou Hudson.

At forward, the West has 6-8 Bob Love of Chicago and 6-8 Spencer Haywood of Seattle, but the East counters with John Havlicek, a 6-5 Boston sparpug, and Bill Cunningham, Philadelphia's contribution to the 7 p.m. contest.

The big difference in the two teams is at center, where the West boasts 7-2 Kareem Abdul Jabbar and 7-1 Wilt Chamberlain. The East lacks a great center and will start Boston's 6-9 Dave Cowens, a second-year man in the NBA.

The backup man is Baltimore's Wes Unseld, who at 6-7 was named the NBA's most valuable player as a rookie three seasons ago. But many, including Atlanta coach Richie Guerin, feel the Hawks' Walt Bellamy should have been named to the squad.

"Yes, I feel it's a great injustice," said Guerin. "He's having a fine year, an exceptional year." He called Bellamy's omission a "gross oversight." The teams are chosen by sports writers and broadcasters and then additions are made by all NBA coaches in a vote.

Vols Turn to Johnny Majors

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Georgia Tech's search for a new football coach continues today everywhere except Arkansas.

Tech's hopes of convincing Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles to return to his alma mater have ended.

Athletic Director Bobby Dodd said Monday that Broyles "has no intention of leaving Arkansas whatsoever." He declined to reveal what offers were made to the highly successful Razorback coach.

Johnny Majors of Iowa State apparently has moved to the top of the list of candidates for the post left vacant by the dismissal of Leon "Bud" Carson. Carson, who was fired Jan. 8, had compiled a 27-27 record in five seasons with the Yellow Jackets.

Other names frequently mentioned to succeed Carson include Bill Pace of Vanderbilt, Bill Fulcher of Tampa and Steve Sloan, a former Alabama quarterback now serving as an assistant coach at Florida State.

Cowboys' Morton Available

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Available: one quarterback.

Vital statistics: Craig Morton, a 28-year old, 6-foot-4 214-pound, seven-year veteran from California.

For information, contact: the world champion Dallas Cowboys.

That, in essence, is what Coach Tom Landry said Monday, shortly before the Cowboys, Super Bowl VI victors with a 24-3 whipping of the Miami Dolphins, returned to Dallas.

A year ago, Morton was the Cowboys' No. 1 quarterback. At the start of the 1971 season, he found himself in competition for the job with Roger Staubach.

Then, after the two had alternated at the post as the club struggled to a 4-3 record, Landry turned the job over to Staubach outright—and Morton, who had quarterbacked Dallas within a whisker of the title before the 16-13 championship loss to Baltimore a year ago, found himself a forgotten man.

Staubach proceeded to direct the Cowboys to seven successive regular-season victories, followed by winning playoff games against Minnesota and San Francisco and the big one Sunday against the Dolphins that obliterated forever the stigma that Dallas folds in the clutch.

Morton evidently isn't happy in his new role as a backup man and Landry said "He will probably be asked to be traded—and he probably is justified. I think for him, and his career, he will ask to be."

But the coach hedged on whether he will comply with Morton's wishes. "We will never trade unless we get value," Landry said, "but I can't imagine us not getting value for him. He's at the point where he could be a great quarterback. We'd like to find a young quarterback to groom," added Landry, who didn't say whether Dallas would seek one via the trading block or next month's National Football League draft.

The field of potential quarterback-hunting clubs is wide open, with perhaps half a dozen possibilities.

In the American Conference are the Baltimore Colts, with two elder statesmen of the game in Johnny Unitas and Earl Morrall, and the Denver Broncos, unable to get untracked with Steve Ramsey and Don Horn calling the plays.

National Conference prospects include the Philadelphia Eagles, who alternated between Pete Liske and Rick Arrington; the Chicago Bears, who couldn't make headway with Kent Nix, Jack Concannon or Bobby Douglass; the Green Bay Packers, who faltered with Scott Hunter, Zeke Bratkowski and injured Bart Starr; and the Minnesota Vikings, who never made up their minds whether to stick with Norm Snead Gary Cuozzo or Bob Lee.

Morton's future is only one question confronting the Cowboys. A potentially more difficult one is what to do about the quiet man, Duane Thomas.

The Cowboys tried to trade the moody running back to New England in the 1971 exhibition season but the deal was nullified when friction arose between Thomas and the Patriots' top brass.

So he returned to Dallas, as mysteriously silent as ever, and went on to become their leading ground-gainer—and No. 7 in the NFC—with 793 yards. He was also a Super Bowl standout with 95 yards and a touchdown against Miami.

"We don't want to lose a good football player, but he has to have everything worked out," Landry said. "I wouldn't like to see another season of that," he said, referring to the Thomas mystique. "It created a lot of tension and the players feel it. It's not a real good situation."

Another likely sore spot is the $200,000 Thomas received for each of the first two years in a three-year contract, a sum he reportedly considered too low.

But as Landry said it is club policy to renegotiate the final year of all such multiple-season pacts, that problem could be alleviated with a healthy raise.

Staubach is also due for a shot in the wallet. When someone pointed out Monday that his three-year contract expired this season, Super Bowl VI's most valuable player joked: "I'm glad you reminded me of that."

Staubach has other ideas, too—like becoming his own play-caller, rather than having them sent in by Landry. But he said it might be hard to compete with such a successful system.

"When you've won 10 in a row this way, it's pretty hard to make an argument," Staubach said. "He let me call the plays in the exhibition games. I think we'll go the same way next season and we'll see how it goes."

Landry seemed amenable to a change, though. "If the players react the same way with Staubach calling the plays as with me calling them, then the quarterback will call the plays."

BOARD MAN

Wilt Chamberlain holds the NBA record for most rebounds in one game, having grabbed 55 in a contest against the Boston Celtics while playing for Philadelphia in 1960.

'LITTLE' WONDER

Only two backcourt men have been named NBA player of the year since the award was instituted in 1956. Bob Cousy of Boston earned the honor for the 1956-57 season and Oscar Robertson, then of Cincinnati, took it in 1963-64.

Poll Has West Flavor

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

UCLA, Long Beach State and Southern California are within 25 miles of each other and not very far away in The Associated Press college basketball poll, either.

The three schools give the Top Ten a distinct West Coast flavor today with UCLA in its familiar No. 1 position, Long Beach, No. 4 and Southern Cal in the eighth spot.

A nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters gave UCLA 40 of 41 first-place votes and 818 points after the beefy Bruins ran their record to 12-0 last week with victories over Stanford and California.

Long Beach, seventh last week, climbed three spots on the strength of two victories and an overall 14-1 mark. The 49ers garnered 511 points and took over the spot occupied last week by South Carolina, which dropped to No. 5.

Southern California moved up two positions after beating California and Stanford, unseating last week's No. 8 team, Virginia.

Marquette, which received the other first-place vote, remained the nation's No. 2 team with 722 points. The Warriors, undefeated through 12 games, had a close call last week against Detroit.

North Carolina, 11-1, defeated Virginia over the weekend and stayed in the No. 3 position with 652 points.

Louisville dropped down one spot to No. 6 despite winning twice; Ohio State moved up two to No. 7 after beating Michigan; Virginia dropped to No. 9 and Penn, which lost to Princeton, skidded four spots to No. 10.

The rest of the Top 20 includes: No. 11 Florida State; No. 12 Southwest Louisiana; No. 13 Brigham Young; No. 14 Princeton; No. 15 Villanova; No. 16 Marshall; No. 17 Minnesota; No. 18 Hawaii; No. 19 Tennessee and No. 20 Northern Illinois.

Princeton, Minnesota, Tennessee and Northern Illinois are new this week. The four teams who dropped out are, Kentucky, Illinois, Indiana and Missouri, 15-16-17-18, respectively last week.

The Top 20, with first place votes in parentheses, won-lost records through Sunday's games and total points on the basis of 20 for first, 18 for second, 16, 14, 12, 10, 9, 8, etc.

1. UCLA (40) 12-0 818
2. Marquette (1) 12-0 722
3. N. Carolina 11-1 652
4. Long Beach 14-1 511
5. S. Carolina 8-2 484
6. Louisville 11-1 445
7. Ohio State 10-2 421
8. USC 11-2 274
9. Virginia 12-1 232
10. Penn 9-2 205
11. Florida St. 13-2 204
12. SW Louisiana 11-1 166
13. BYU 11-2 121
14. Princeton 14-2 103
15. Villanova 11-2 89
16. Marshall 12-2 47
17. Minnesota 8-3 45
18. Hawaii 13-1 41
19. Tennessee 8-2 31
20. N. Illinois 10-1 18

Others receiving votes, in alphabetical order, Duquesne, Jacksonville, Kentucky, Maryland, Missouri, Niagara, Ohio University, Oral Roberts, Providence, St. John's, N.Y., St. Louis, St. Bonaventure, Syracuse, Toledo.

James Armstrong led the Mulenders with 16 points.

Leads U.S. Ski Jumpers

WESTBY, Wis. (AP) — Jerry Martin of Minneapolis is the leading performer to date among the competitors invited Monday to final trials for selection of a U.S. ski-jumping team for the winter Olympics next month in Japan.

Martin, 21, holder of the North American ski-jumping distance record with 345 feet, led three rounds of weather-delayed weekend trials at Westby's 90-meter Timber Coulee Hill.

Two more rounds next weekend at Leavenworth, Wash., are to conclude the six-round trials. Another round was held earlier in Iron Mountain, Mich.

Lloyd Severud, U.S. coach, said Leavenworth "is still the key. Some of our boys have skied well, but not up to their potential; and part of the reason for that is unfavorable weather."

Martin, he said, "has been ahead of everyone so far and has done an excellent job. But I feel he can do even better."

Severud said Greg Swor of Duluth, Minn., although ranked 11th after the trials at Westby and Iron Mountain, was chosen among the nine finalists because he is considered one of the country's foremost jumpers.

The finalists besides Martin and Swor are Ron Steele, 18, of Leavenworth; Scott Berry of Deadwood, S.D.; Adrian Watt of Duluth; Dana Zelanakis of Brattleboro, Vt.; Jeff Wright and Greg Windsberger of Minneapolis, and Dave Norby of Madison, Wis.

State Dampens Corpus Rally

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas State put down a Corpus Christi rally late in the game Monday night to win 66-60.

The Indians led 34-32 at halftime and were on top by five points shortly after intermission but the Tarpons zoomed ahead to take a 44-42 lead with 12:04 left in the game.

Corpus Christi led 46-44 before the Indians scored 10 straight points in a six-minute span to go ahead 54-46 with 4:00 left in the game.

Steve Brooks paced the Indians with 18 points followed by Calvin Breedlove. Lawrence Mayberry was the leading scorer for the Tarpons with 17 points.

Ouachita Still Tops in AIC

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ouachita Baptist University remained in the No. 1 position of the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference by defeating the College of the Ozarks at Clarksville Monday night.

Ouachita was led by Jim Hamilton who piled up 31 points during the game. During the first half alone, Hamilton scored 17 points.

In the second half of the game Ouachita shot 63 per cent from the field.

The Henderson Reddies were another AIC group with a star Monday night. Behind the shooting of Mike Peterson, Henderson defeated Harding 66-57 at Arkadelphia Monday night.

Peterson had 25 points for the Reddies.

The leading scorers for the Bisons were Lester Busby and Joe Mathais, who each had 13 points.

In other AIC action Monday night, Arkansas College defeated the University of Arkansas at Monticello 67-56 and Southern State gave Arkansas Tech its second defeat of the season, 60-52.

UA came within four points of overtaking their opponents with a little more than nine minutes left in the game, but Arkansas College never let UA get any closer throughout the game.

The leading scorers for Arkansas College were Elliott Jackson with 24 points and David McDaniel with 12 points.

Harold Goffin paced UA with 18 points and Clarence Lanier had 13 points.

At Magnolia, Southern State held Arkansas Tech without a field goal over the final five minutes of the game.

Johnny White's basket with 3:28 left broke a 49-49 tie and gave Southern State the lead for keeps.

James Armstrong led the Mulenders with 16 points.

WHAT'S HOLDING UP THE LINE? A ski race, as a matter of fact. Making quite a pattern themselves, spectators at Sapporo, Japan, are intent on patterns cut on the racing course by top skiers during pre-Olympics International Winter Sports Week.

More Honors for Petty

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — Stock car driver Richard Petty may have to add another wing to his house in Randleman to accommodate all the hardware he's won in 1971.

Last night's National Motorsports Press Association's annual award banquet in Charlotte added another trophy to the Petty collection, the Myers Brothers Memorial Award for contributions to stock car racing.

Petty's father Lee accepted for him. Richard is in Riverside, Calif. preparing for Saturday's 1972 NASCAR inaugural.

The Southern-based NMPA voted Bobby Allison its 1971 NASCAR driver of the year award. It was also presented at last night's banquet.

Petty won 21 NASCAR races in 1971, for a total of $333,148 in prizes and bonuses. Allison was second in winnings and took home almost $290,000, but won more superspeedway events than Petty.

Change Small in Cage Poll

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two unbeaten streaks went by the boards last week, causing a reshuffling in The Associated Press high school basketball poll.

Subiaco dropped a 58-53 decision to Mountain Home in the Arkansas Tech tournament after posting a 15-0 record and Stephens ran its record to 21-0 before losing to Stamps 48-45 in the Henderson tournament.

Subiaco, ranked fourth last week, dropped to seventh. Stephens, seventh last week, fell one notch.

Little Rock Central continued in the No. 1 spot, receiving first-place votes from nine of the 12 sportscasters and sports-writers who make up The AP panel. The Tigers won twice last week to advance their record to 13-1.

Following Central comes Little Rock Parkview, Blytheville, Fayetteville, Little Rock Hall, Hardy Highland, Subiaco, Stephens and Mountain Home. Desha Central and Stuttgart tied for the No. 10 spot.

One of Central's victories last week was a 63-50 decision over Hall. Despite the loss, the Warriors remained fifth in the poll.

Blytheville advanced from sixth to third after running its record to 15-3 with two victories. Fayetteville fell a notch to fourth after losing a 43-41 decision to Hot Springs in triple overtime.

Highland overcame the slow down tactics of Cave City to up its record to 21-1 and advanced from eighth to sixth. Mountain Home, winner of 10 straight, is a newcomer to the top 10.

Desha Central was ninth and Stuttgart 10th last week.

Here are the results of The Associated Press high school basketball poll with first place votes and team records in parentheses and total points at right:

1. LR Central (9) (13-1) 116
2. LR Parkview (2) (12-2) 105
3. Blytheville (1) (15-3) 83
4. Fayetteville (12-2) 74
5. LR Hall (11-3) 73
6. Hardy Highland (21-1) 53
7. Subiaco (15-1) 50
8. Stephens (21-1) 37
9. Mountain Home (20-3) 23
10. (tie) Desha Central (19-2) 14
11. Stuttgart (11-2) 14

Others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Camden Fairview, FS Northside, Jonesboro, Westside, Prairie Grove, Russellville and Stamps.

Hope Girls Win Over Willisville

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

With all three forwards scoring in double figures, the Hope Ladycats racked up the points as they powered their way to a second half comeback, 57-51, victory over the Willisville Lionettes.

Hope had trailed at halftime, 30-25, but midway in the third quarter, the Ladycats took the lead for good while holding the Lionettes scoring down some.

Willisville scored first, but with Dee Singleton hitting Hope's first seven points, the Ladycats kept pace with the Lionettes until two minutes before the quarters' end when the Ladycats fell behind by three. Two more points widened the Lionette lead to five, 16-11, moving into the second stanza.

Both teams scored 14 points each in that period as Willisville held a five point lead at halftime, 30-25, after Lionette Theresa Elliot hit a free throw with nine seconds left in the half.

Soon after the second half got underway one could tell it was going to be exciting to the end, as Singleton, Janet McCain, and Betty Rodden all hit two field goals each in the first three minutes to quickly put Hope in front with a 37-33 margin.

However, the Ladycats hit a cold spell, but still managed to retain their lead while starting the final period, 41-38.

It didn't take long for the excitement to begin, as Willisville moved to within one point, only to see Ladycats Singleton and McCain pop in five points each within three minutes to force a Lionette timeout with 2:50 left in the game.

Although trying desperately, Willisville couldn't get the ball away from the Ladycats long enough and watched McCain and Rodden each hit two points with about a minute left, to ice the game down.

Singleton led Hope with 27 points, while McCain hit 16, and Rodden put in 14. Elliot hit 24 for Willisville. Defensively, the Ladycats had one of their better ballgames as all the guards, Sandra Hamilton, Judy Reyenga, Janice Hobson, and Betty Ruth Honevcutt, all

Just Lasts One Week

By RON ROACH
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dick Nolan and Don McCafferty find only one thing wrong with coaching the world's finest football players: It lasts only a week.

The opposing coaches for Sunday's 22nd annual Pro Bowl at Memorial Coliseum started the week Monday, Nolan sending his National Conference allstars through practice at UCLA and McCafferty drilling the American Conference team at the University of Southern California.

"The difficult part about it is we just have one week," said McCafferty of the Baltimore Colts. "We have to get so many things in."

San Francisco's Nolan said: "These are great athletes, they pick things up quickly. You only have to tell 'em one time."

Yet with only one week to prepare, Nolan said, "you can't put in a whole offense that you'd use for a normal team."

McCafferty said the AFC team will use Baltimore's system and the players "will have to study hard. It's different in terminology and numbers. We'll do the best we can."

"We'll have a flexible offense," McCafferty said. "Maybe we'll have 400 many plays."

Neither coach is worried about his starting lineup or reserves.

"It doesn't make any difference who starts," McCafferty said. "They all will play. The coaches did a good job selecting the team."

Nolan said his starters and substitutes are "equally as good as the other. It's not like having a regular team and having a reserve who's below a starter in ability."

The coaches aren't worried about motivation, either, and they agree that the $2,000 apiece for the winners and $1,500 for each loser is of secondary importance.

"Money is nice to have," said Nolan, "but being chosen to play is the big thing."

During the fourth period, just about everyone got in the game, as the Bruins continued to play some fine ball, keeping the game out of reach with points by Stuart and Cole.

Harris led Hope with 16 points, followed by James Smith with 10, Brown hitting nine, Martin and Stewart with eight each, Rhodes sinking six and Cole chipping in five.

This afternoon, Hope travels to Arkadelphia for two games with the Bobcats and B-Bruins.

my's king and a second trump back to his ace.

He doesn't appreciate the bad break but he takes the spade finesse; leads a club to his queen for a finesse in that suit; continues with a spade to dummy's ace and a spade ruff. Then he throws East in with his last trump. Ten tricks have been played and East holds K-10-8 in clubs which he must lead away from.

When Bill Grieve and George Rapee of New York sat East and West, they found a defense to foil this line of play.

George opened the king of diamonds and Bill carefully played the deuce instead of the encouraging seven. George decided that Bill surely held the ace and wanted a shift. Or at least that Bill could stand a shift. The shift had to be to clubs since Bill could not hold anything of value in spades.

Then George visualized the whole hand and did lead the club seven. Bill covered dummy's nine with the 10 and South was in with the queen. He tried the same line of play but when Bill got in with the queen of trumps he was able to get out with a diamond and finally scored the setting trick in clubs.

Mountaire Promotions

Va. Appeals School Decision

LEE EAMES

PHILLIP TENNY

TOM PATE

Ronnie Cameron, Director of Marketing for Mountaire Corporation, has announced the promotion of Lee Eames to Sales Manager of Mountaire Kitchens Products, a division of Mountaire Corporation. Eames, a salesman with Mountaire Poultry Company, worked for Ultra Life Lab in East St. Louis prior to joining Mountaire in 1965. He is a former owner of his own company, a Poultry Vaccination Service in Cedar Hill, Missouri. Eames will be responsible for development of field sales for Mountaire's further processed chicken meat products. Cameron has also announced the promotion of Phillip Tenny and the employment of Tom Pate. Tenny, who worked as plant manager of the Mountaire Kitchens Products Division at Hope, was formerly employed by the state Auditor's office and M&M Leasing Company of Little Rock and Hope. Pate joins Mountaire after holding a position with Ouachita Marine and Instrument Corporation.

Both men now hold positions in Mountaire Kitchens and Mountaire Poultry Company sales department.

Kennedy Is Making Like a Candidate

By ROBERT L. CAMPBELL
Associated Press Writer

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, officially a noncandidate "without qualification," has launched a broad attack against the Nixon administration's foreign and domestic policies.

Kennedy, D-Mass., delivered his broadside in a speech Monday night to the National Press Club in Washington. He called on the American people to reject President Nixon as a leader who cannot inspire and his administration as government by the untrusting of the untrusting.

The speech came only hours after Kennedy filed an affidavit removing his name from Florida's March 14 Democratic presidential primary ballot saying his intention not to be a candidate was "without qualification." A similar declaration filed in Massachusetts Thursday and released Monday said: "I am not and do not intend to be a candidate for the office of president of the United States at the forthcoming presidential election."

"Our present difficulties do not flow so much from the fact that people mistrust their government as from the fact that the government so obviously mistrusts the people," Kennedy told newsmen in the capital.

Charging the administration has been unable to manage the economy, curb violence in the cities or admit its mistakes in a lingering war, Kennedy said in such times "the American people have traditionally turned to their president for leadership."

"They demand a sense of national purpose and inspiration they can identify with, participate in, be proud of ... That sense of purpose is what we must struggle to recapture. There could be no better year to begin than now."

In Vietnam, Kennedy said, 20,000 Americans have died since Nixon took office.

"And we know that thousands of soldiers of North and South Vietnam, and tens of thousands of innocent men and women and children, will die in Indochina in 1972, for the simple reason that President Nixon will not allow the Saigon government to falter until he is secure at home for another term of office," he said.

Kennedy said Nixon "deserves great credit for his new approach to China," but added, "Let us pray that history does not tell us that the price we paid was wrong, because we lost sight of other nations and deeper values."

Blacks Call on Governor

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—About 150 blacks from Lee County called on Gov. Dale Bumpers' office at the state Capitol Monday asking for an investigation into a series of incidents at Marianna last week sparked by a walkout at Lee High School.

Bumpers was not in his office and representatives of the delegation met with Bumpers' aides, Col. William C. Miller, the State Police Director, and state Education Director A. W. Ford.

The group said that Bumpers had been given incomplete and untrue reports about the incident. They urged Bumpers to use his influence to seek the prosecution of policemen and private individuals the blacks accused of making unprovoked attacks on black students after a walkout at the school.

The students walked out of the school Thursday after school officials refused to bow to their demands that a special observance be held in honor of Martin Luther King's birthday last Saturday.

Thomas McRae, one of Bumpers' aides, said that the governor was concerned about the matter and "would look into the situation to try to work out what is best for all concerned."

Miller promised a State Police investigation of the blacks' charges that state troopers joined city and county officers in attacking black students after the walkout.

Ford said he would send a team to Marianna at the group's request to talk with persons about improving school conditions.

The Rev. I. V. McKenzie of Marianna indicated that Bumpers might send a team of investigators to the city.

Court to Take Look at Northern Segregation

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court's first full look at Northern school segregation may provide some temporary solace to Southerners who feel they have been singled out unfairly for stern busing orders.

But the eventual ruling could have an impact on all sections of the country, North, West and South, for two principal reasons.

First, the court, in examining Denver schools, will be dealing with a typical American city with its shifting residential patterns and marked minority groups.

The question, here as elsewhere, is whether high concentrations of white children in some schools and blacks (and Spanish-speaking Americans) in others are evidence of officially sustained segregation, without proof that school officials actually were trying to promote segregation.

Second, must most or all schools in a city be desegregated? Or is it enough to take the kind of partial measures the U.S. Circuit Court in Denver decided was legally sufficient when it acted to integrate a handful of schools in Denver but left about a dozen others primarily one race?

The court's decision to hear an appeal by the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund is a major innovation, possibly the work of Chief Justice Warren E. Burger who is known to favor one basic approach to school desegregation, North and South.

The court's usual stance in Northern cases is to dispose of them without saying much. The justices did exactly that Monday in turning down blacks from Newark and Jersey City who wanted city and county boundaries crossed in order to accomplish integration.

The blacks' suit had been thrown out by a federal district court in New Jersey. Over the objection of Justice William O. Douglas, who felt the blacks were entitled to a hearing, the Supreme Court simply affirmed the lower court's judgment.

While schools were the dominant theme at the court's Monday session, apart from hearings into the death penalty, the justices took other important actions.

In a 7-0 ruling, a former porter and thousands of others claiming job discrimination were spared a "procedural technicality" that had slowed action in their behalf by the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

The onetime porter, Earl A. Love, has been battling the Pullman Co. since 1963 with claims that he and other blacks serve as conductors but are paid as porters. The question was how quickly the EEOC could step in once a state commission turned them down.

The court, through Justice Potter Stewart, gave Love and the government the go-ahead they wanted.

In another decision the court ruled that members of a United Mine Workers reform movement should be allowed to participate in a government suit to overturn the election of UMW president W.A. "Tony" Boyle.

But the ruling limits the intervention to claims the government already has brought against the 1969 election. The suit is being considered by a federal district court here.

Also, the court agreed to decide whether the Air Force may be held liable for damage to property caused by sonic booms. The case, to be heard later in the term, concerns a family in Nashville, N.C., and a ruling by the U.S. Circuit Court in Richmond, Va., that shielded the Air Force.

European Common Market

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Writer

BRUSSELS (AP)—After 19 months of negotiations, Britain and the European Common Market reached agreement early today on all the terms of Britain's entry into the customs union. The 700-page text also sets the pattern for admission of Denmark, Ireland and Norway.

Prime Minister Edward Heath will sign the treaty Saturday, and Britain will become a member of the European Economic Community next Jan. 1.

The last points were settled at a nine-hour meeting between Sir Con O'Neill of Britain and representatives of France, West Germany, Italy, Luxembourg, Belgium and the Netherlands.

A successful conclusion to the negotiations had been a foregone conclusion since last June when the main political issues were settled. But many other details, largely agricultural and business, remained to be settled. This was accomplished at 13 cabinet-level meetings and 38 other sessions.

Ireland, Norway and Denmark also will sign the treaty.

O'Neill said Britain won some points in the final talks and had to give something in exchange. He listed among the favorable results agreements on:

—The kind of relations with the Common Market to be opened to Commonwealth countries, especially the poorer ones in the Caribbean, Africa and the Pacific.

—What will be done if there is a sudden disruption in trade between Britain and other countries as a result of Britain's entering the market.

In return, he said, Britain had to give way on:

—Some points about its contribution to Common Market financing in the first few years of membership.

This Ex-Convict Beat City Hall

By PATRICK O'KEEFE
Associated Press Writer

ROME (AP)—Dante Ottaviani, an ex-convict trying to go straight, beat City Hall, but he had to spend a week perched on a ledge of the Colosseum to do it.

Only after the city granted him the street vendor's license he wanted did he allow firemen to help him down from his perch Monday evening.

"I'm happier now," he said, "I'm glad to be down. I couldn't have lasted any more."

The slightly built Ottaviani, 27, his face unshaven and haggard and eyes rimmed with red, was recuperating today in San Giovanni Hospital. He had said he would rather die if he could not support his 23-year-old wife and 5-year-old daughter honestly.

Ottaviani has been in jail frequently for a series of minor crimes. He had been granted a license to peddle transistor radios and watches in Latina, a small city south of Rome, but claimed he couldn't make a living there. He demanded that he be allowed to hawk his wares in front of Rome's busy railroad station.

Throughout the week on the

—The requirement that when new arrangements are made in 1977 for future purchases of New Zealand dairy products, the decision will have to be made by unanimous vote of the enlarged Common Market.

Colosseum ledge Ottaviani munched hard rolls, drank water and tea and smoked cigarettes. He kept wrapped in a large pink blanket, and sometimes looked down through a pair of binoculars. He slept—or tried to—in an alcove the size of a bridge table.

It was 75 feet off one edge to the upper-story ramp of the Colosseum, 187 feet to the cobbles below the outer wall.

Scores of relatives, neighbors and other vendors took turns keeping watch. They plastered a wall opposite the Colosseum with signs of support.

Hundreds of curiosity seekers also turned out, some even hoping to see him plunge. "Hey! You going to jump or not?" Some yelled.

The Rome Assessor's Office told Ottaviani in a letter that it was granting him a license "taking into account the dramatic situation in which you and your family find yourselves."

"This is a disgrace," said Gianfranco Addante, a bartender who works not far from the Colosseum. "The City Hall should never have given in. I would have let him stay up there."

One-Fourth of Mankind

Isolation (of China) having come to a violent end by the medium of England, dissolution must follow as surely as that of any mummy ... brought into contact with the open air.

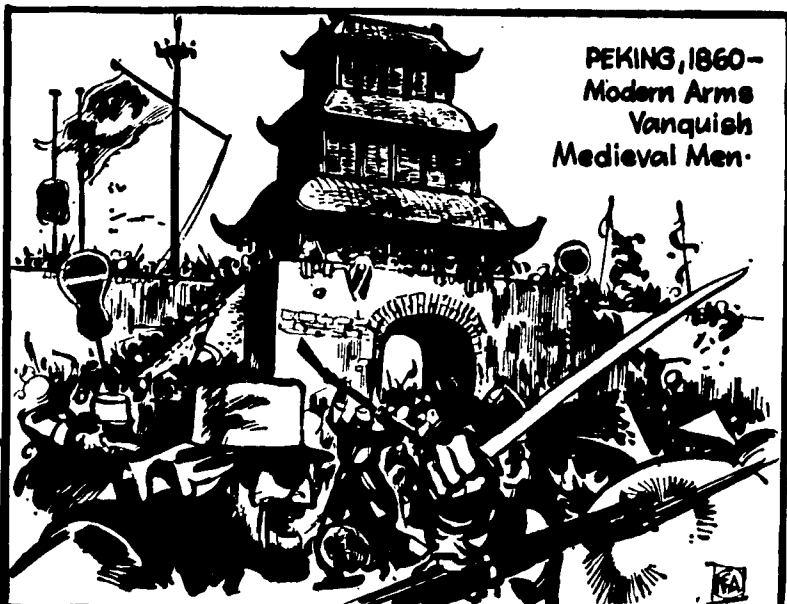

—Karl Marx

Two factors combined to humble proud China —her refusal to treat with Western nations as sovereign equals, and opium.

China's attempts to stamp out the growing trade in the one product Chinese were eager to buy brought her into armed conflict with the British in 1839. The Anglo-Chinese War, or "Opium War," quickly revealed the superiority of Western arms and the astonishing impotence of the Manchu government.

By the Treaty of Nanking in 1842, four more ports besides Canton were opened; extraterritoriality—the jurisdiction of foreign powers over their own nationals—was recognized; and the "most-favored-nation" clause required that any concession granted to one nation was automatically granted to all.

China attempted to ignore the treaty and, in 1856, Britain and France seized pretexts to launch another war. A series of treaties in 1858 opened more ports, levied more indemnities, gave Europeans their long-sought diplomatic recognition, the right to travel freely in China and protection for missionaries.

Still China was not reconciled to reality. In 1860, after the Europeans sacked Peking and burned the Summer Palace, China agreed to a new convention widening the provisions of all the others she had been brought by the scruff of the neck to sign.

In 1858, Russia had wrested 185,000 square miles of Manchuria from the beleaguered Manchus. In 1860, for using his "influence" with the allies, the czar got an additional 133,000 square miles, including the port of Vladivostok.

In the mid-19th century, not only the Europeans but chronic floods and famines and a phenomenon called the Taiping Rebellion ravaged China. Launched in 1850 by Hung Hsin-chuan, who saw visions and called himself the Younger Brother of Christ, it spread rapidly in southern China. Hung hoped to drive out the Manchus and establish a communistic society ("Tai-p'ing T'ien-kuo, or "Heavenly Kingdom of Great Peace") based on his version of Christianity.

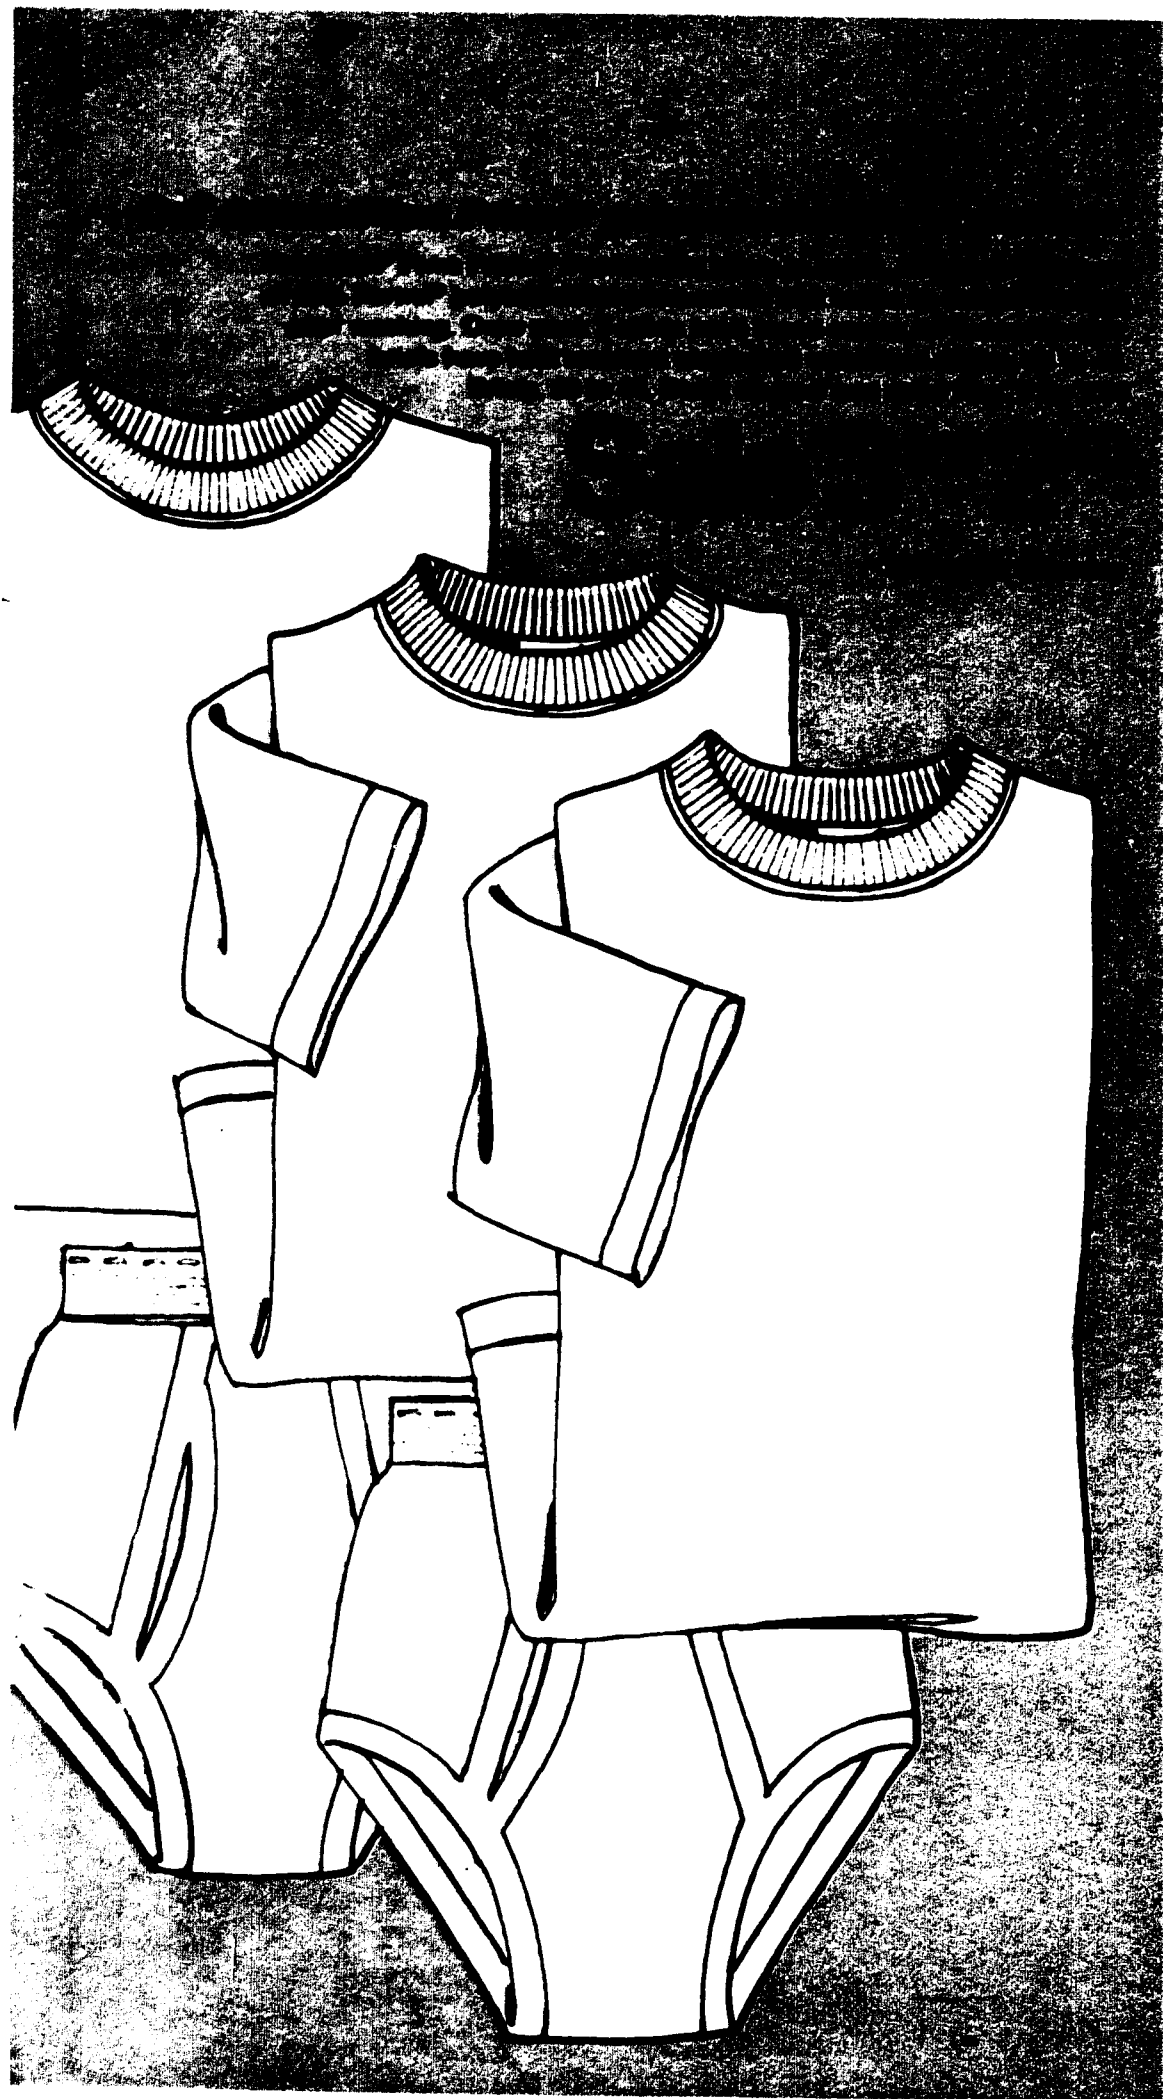

Not until 1864, after claiming 20 million lives, was the "Great Peace" pacified with the help of a European-trained army.

Thus the West propped up the sagging Manchu dynasty with one hand while rending it asunder with the other.
